Dallas is hosting the first Dallas Art Fair this weekend at the Fashion Industry Gallery on Ross Ave. I am hoping to swing by on Sunday and check out the scene. So far I've heard there has been a great turnout, but I have yet to hear about sales. Barry has been hanging out there all weekend shaking hands and making the rounds. Meanwhile back at the ranch, we have had a ton of traffic at the gallery as a result. You can always tell who's from New York and who isn't. I like the people that smile back at me best.
